

TWELFTH DAY: DICKENS

We let the small house to go to Bergen happening first through Balestrand and to admire the art in the form of hotel, the Kvikne's from 1887, that according to the guides is the greater wood building of all Scandinavia. Photos and visit the wood church of St.Olav of colors.

We take the second ferry of the day to Vangsnes direction. We happen through several populations as for example Vik and arrived to Voss, center of ski next to the Vossevangen lake. All is very alpine. We take a walk by the city. When we arrived at the gothic church of Vangskyrkja we ran into with a few weddings, the most interesting of them is one where all go with the traditional dress. We approached the lake. A big place with grass where people take a walk, the children play and the parapentists land. It seems that they are sent from a next hill. In the street a parked precious old Saab. I speak with the master who is well proud. It is of the 58, the car. His possessor is previous.

The hotel in Bergen is well located and it gives access quickly to the center. We buy the Bergen Card in the Tourist Info of the locality. After all the visits to museums, ascents in bus, we have amortized very shortly the paid amount. The most advantageous was, without a doubt, the one of Oslo.

The day is gray, covered with clouds. We make the first visit to the city, raised the cableway to see the views from above and had dinner in the Dickens. Good presentation of plates although somewhat useless. The salad in a glass, everything upon the plate, in company of the rest of the food. Four leaves of lettuce with two slices of onion. The chocolate dream that we asked as last is not so but a combination of different presented classes from independent way. We are more of the black.

(Sorry, my English is so bad. Page translated with "Yahoo Babel Fish")